

Wayi International Digital Entertainment launching the Keypasco authentication solution to secure their customers

Gothenburg, January 27, 2013 – Keypasco announces that Wayi Digital Entertainment Co., Ltd. (Wayi) in Taiwan is deploying Keypasco's Embedded Authentication Service (EAS) solution to secure its online game services.

Wayi plans to introduce their new games soon and has integrated their login authentication with the Keypasco cloud-based authentication service.

"After many years of experiences with traditional authentication solutions like OTP token, SMS OTP etc., we found the Keypasco solution. The solution offers a cutting-edge technology suitable for new generation games and users, and a security solution based on the new trend of Bring Your Own Device (BYOD). Users log in as usual with their username and password from their device and location. Keypasco then secures the authentication in the background! That the Keypasco solution offers the combination of being a software- and Cloud-based solution, a good security and affordable price are the reasons for our choice. The fact that it has been proven to be easy to integrate and easy to roll out make us feel confident for success!" commented Alex Chen, CIO at Wayi Digital Entertainment Co., Ltd.

Maw-Tsong Lin, Founder and Chief Executive Officer at Keypasco, commented: "We are proud and glad to announce the second enrolment of the Keypasco solution by a leading online gaming company. Wayi is the first customer that uses our solution for both PC and smartphones. We strongly believe that the smartphones will be the mainstream of future applications and the Keypasco solution works very well in this environment, using the same structure for good security on mobile phones."

Cindianne Lin, VP at Lydsec Digital Technology, Keypasco's partner in Taiwan: "The latest wave of Zeus and EuroGrabber trojan attacks on SMS OTP in Taiwan has taught us that smartphones with an open platform are big security risks. Keypasco's solution can mitigate this problem easily and without any extra action. Wayi's enrolment is a new milestone for us, and we have more new customers within the online gaming and financial industries in the pipeline."
