Your privacy is our concern!

After seven months of progress Keypasco has reached a new milestone:

- We have filed the patent application of the Keypasco technology in all major markets
- We have defined the core business and formed the business plan
- We have delivered a proof of concept in accordance to the business plan

Keypasco's core business is to offer an end-user centric web Single Sign-On authentication service for Cloud Computing and Internet in general. The solution will be based on Keypasco patent pending technology.

The slogan of the recently published "National strategy for trusted identities in Cyberspace" from the US government is "Enhancing Online Choice, Efficiency, Security, and Privacy". This is completely in line with Keypasco's vision and business plan.

We have now reached a new state where we can demo our service as a proof of concept. To mark this new milestone, we now introduce a new logo that is more descriptive to our future business: Key to the Cloud, Your privacy is our concern!
